FOREWORD

Dear Canyonist/Canyoneer/Schluchtler or whatever the correct naming in your language might be....

With canyoning we have discovered one of the most beautiful sports for us and made it to our passion. A sport that combines mountains, polished rock, water and sometimes also ice, in an environment that often leaves us simply amazed. Switzerland offers us an extremely beautiful ambience and space to play. Let's appreciate and respect this by taking care of our playgrounds.

There is no reason not to do it.

TOMÜLBACH

Vals, Graubünden

The canyon is rather short, but it has some sporty sections, nice clear water and even a short underground section.

Approach:

From Vals take the small mountain road up to the marked car park (alt. 1876Hm). It is also possible to take a hiking taxi, which usually runs on weekends. From the car park always along the hiking trail to the stone bridge shortly before the Alp Tomül. 5 minutes further and a visit of the Alp Tomül for a fresh beer and Alp cheese is recommendable.

Description:

Tomül is a rather short but sporty canyon above the famous thermal baths of Vals. In the Tomül canyon you get the whirlpools and massage jets for free. The start begins comfortably with a few small slides and jumps until the canyon continues underground for about 30m because large boulders lie above the gorge. From then the canyon becomes a bit more technical, especially the C25 can be quite challenging at high water levels.

At the end there is another beautiful spot with a C15 which can also be jumped optionally.

Way back:

From the end of the canyon continue on the plain for 400m to reach the hiking trail you have walked up, then go down to the car.
